

Your Personal Notebook

The Notebook is a workspace for ideas that are not tied to any specific project.

It acts as a central place to capture thoughts, story ideas, research notes, or fragments of inspiration before you decide where they belong.

Many writers use the Notebook to store:

- New story ideas
- Character concepts
- World-building notes
- Research material
- Plot ideas that may become future projects

Notes stored in the Notebook can later be moved to a new or existing Project when you have the need to use them.

This allows you to keep your creative ideas organized without needing to immediately create a full project structure.

Search notes...

- Steampunk Willie 17 seconds ago ...
- Background for Julia 52 seconds ago ...
- Asparagus cream pa... 1 minute ago ...
- Ideas for opening li... 8 minutes ago ...
- Character who refu... 15 minutes ago ...
- How to switch prof... 21 minutes ago ...
- New novel ideals 23 minutes ago ...

Add a note...

Background for Julia's story

← → B I Paragraph ▾ ☰ ☷ 🔗

Julia grew up always moving from town to town, never staying long enough to feel rooted. Her mother said she was “keeping our options open” but Julia knew she was leaving before anyone else could leave her.

By the time the story starts, she’s built her life around routines and distance: a job she can quit, relationships she doesn’t let deepen, and a version of herself that just feels safe.

What she doesn’t realize is that the choices she made to survive her childhood are the same ones now preventing her from moving forward..

 Move to project → Saved

Revision #1

Created 2026-03-08 15:13:59 UTC by Peter

Updated 2026-03-08 15:16:44 UTC by Peter